

Friday, February 8 of 2013

SPECIAL MESSAGE OF CHRIST JESUS,
TRANSMITTED TO MOTHER SHIMANI

Listen to My Voice, the one which resounds in your inner.

I Am your Master, your Savior and Redeemer who returns for all of you.

As I have promised, thus it will be.

Prepare your hearts, your temples, because I will call for you loudly at the door and all will hear me.

Take care, My children, so that My Call may not find you distracted in the things of the world, a world that agonizes in selfishness because it is far from My Father, the Father of Love.

Listen to My Voice, the one which resounds in your minds, to dissolve every dissociation, every fear.

Listen to My Voice, the one which makes your cells vibrate filling them with the light that comes from the universe, light that is poured over you from My Heart.

Companions of yesterday and of today:

Be attentive because My Voice will arrive like the thunder, My presence like the storm and My Love like the cosmic fire that will burn your past and will bring an end to your purification.

But I will also come like the sweet voice of the nightingale for those that have prepared themselves since always. I will come like the perfumed breeze of geraniums and honeysuckles for those who are faithful, meek and humble, those who wait for me kneeling before the Eucharist.

I will come soon when you least expect and My Love will enter in your beings like the water penetrates the earth giving to it a new form. With this mud I will mold My New Wineskins and in them I will deposit My Blood so that My Ones may share it across and throughout the world, from north to south and from east to west.

I need to find you ready because once again I will send you two by two.

And you will take My Word impregnated by My Mercy, by My Peace and by My Salvation.

Be attentive, companions, because I am coming.

In you I am.

Christ Jesus.